Romantic Women's Spring 2009 Fashions - Venexiana, Mastroianni, and Roland

Ladies, get ready as Luxury Experience Magazine brings you a preview of the romantic collections for Spring-Summer 2009 from Kati Stern for Venexiana, Joanna Mastroianni, and Pamella Roland seen on the runways during Mercedes-Benz Fashion Week in New York!

Kati Stern of Venexiana showed her first Spring-Summer collection in New York in 2004, and since then has clearly been a darling of the shows. For her Spring-Summer 2009 collection, she created 63 stunning looks each more gorgeous than the next.

Think elegant flowing lines, soft fabrics of chiffon, crepe, tulle, and linen, luxurious embellishments of Swarovski crystals, beading, sequins, feathers, and even the unexpected python. Her choice of color palette for the season is dusty blue, ecru, light cream, light rose, deep rose, azure, taupe, lemon, champagne, gold, and ivory.

For Spring-Summer, Kati Stern is showing halter gowns, strapless gowns, one-shoulder gowns, sweetheart necklines, shawl collars, and sultry floral prints. A few of the show highlights, and there were many, included a dusty blue tulle and appliquéd lace grand ball gown, and a shimmering silver paillette evening gown that conjured an image of the tiny mirrors on a disco ball. Details included ruching and goddess pleats, fabric roses placed on shoulders and adding interest on a back strap, and beaded straps on a halter gown. Look for pencil skirts, split evening skirts, high-waisted pants, full pants, one-shoulder and off the shoulder dresses and gowns. Kati Stern puts the glam in glamorous with her Spring-Summer 2009 collection.
